Pastoral Leadership... After God's Own Heart!

To the most important people in the world: YOU!

The scripture says, "Know ye that the LORD He [is] God: [it is] He [that] hath made us, and not we ourselves; [we are] His people, and the sheep of His pasture." - Psalm 100:3. Earlier, Psalm 24:1 states, "The earth [is] the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein."

Praise the Lord!

I am Pastor Colier McNair. You need to know that everything belongs to God, came from God and will return to God in the end - Ecclesiastes 3:21. That's not to say that we will all be saved. We all have a choice to serve God or not.

My plea to you is one from a Pastor after God's own heart. I have a duty. That duty is to reach every man, woman, boy and girl possible, and with the talent, time and resources available to us.

My church background gives me the inspiration, charisma and motivational savvy that good speakers absolutely have to have. My education, study and preparation skills in marketing research, planning, presentation and management of information give me experience to draw from as I study to show myself approved before God and His people.

I assumed leadership of my father's church Vessels of Praise - now known as Zion City International Church Ministries, Inc. - in September 2006. A seasoned leader, I bring youth and energy to a new, emerging and vital institution. I'm confident, as your pastor, you will find in me a person who is sufficiently gifted creatively and sufficiently astute strategically to perform quality work in the perfecting of God's Kingdom in and for your life. I have the pedigree, vision, wisdom and passion necessary to support, promote, advance the spiritual needs, development and continuity of a diverse Madison and Dane County community.

I value good rapport with people. A major strength for me lies in my security in light of other folks' abilities, talents, gifts and accomplishments. I respect people's ability to do their jobs, live their lives and live it well. I believe it is vital to be surrounded by a quality team. I like the idea of deferring to others or preferring others when it comes to things they do well.

My background in music/recording arts helps me to recognize those who are able to work very effectively alone, or with minimal supervision from authoritative role models. At the same time, as your pastor and leader, I am the one who is accountable for your spiritual edification and prosperity. Just as I expect staff, leaders, adherents and congregants to learn from me by observing my character and trusting in my ability to lead them, I, too, must show equal respect for their knowledge and allow them to impart into me where applicable. I have excellent communication and interpersonal skills. My leadership skills are comparable with those of other top leaders. Personal experiences in life have helped me become more proactive, patient, compassionate and understanding. I understand the importance of listening and I welcome constructive feedback.

I majored in Business because in today's times the church must be astute and able to evolve. I know that word scares some Christian folks, but don't fear. Understand, we're in the sales business because we promote Christ and Him crucified. We're SOUL WINNERS! We're trying to win Christian customers for the work of Christ. Yes, I think "outside the box" but not "outside the bible".

Moreover, I have been exposed to approximately 4,000 hours of preaching, teaching, training and experience in God's Word. That's the equivalent of a Doctorate of Divinity degree in Religious Studies, Philosophy, Counseling, or Apostolic Doctrinal Study. What wisdom we find in the Word of God.

My wife Myra Renee holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Biology from St. Scholastica College in Duluth, Minnesota.
